GALAXIS Frontier

Native Microbials spent years researching the dairy cow rumen to identify the microbes most associated with high performing cows. The result is Galaxis™ Frontier, the only product made with a consortia of live microbes native to the rumen. The product increases the abundance of beneficial microbes in the rumen, helping to optimize digestion for more energy. And more energy means lactating cows do more of what they do best. Every day you work hard to keep her healthy. Don’t lose momentum during her dry period. “Involution transition” following dry off, represents high risk for new infections. Prior to calving the “colostrogenesis transition” is also high risk. Do all you can to aid in the prevention of mastitis by Sealing the Deal with an application of an improved formulation T-HEXX® DRY™ External Teat Sealant as your final step at dry off and once again, 10 days before calving. www.huvepharma.us.

Adisseo

Methionine is an essential nutrient and generally is the first limiting amino acid for dairy cows. Meeting methionine requirements results in higher production, better metabolic health, and improved reproduction performance. Smartamine® M, Adisseo’s coated methionine with specific pH-sensitive polymer protects the amino acid during its passage through the rumen, ensuring its release in the abomasum and absorption in the small intestine. www.adisseo.com.

TechMix Global

Dairy cow reproductive performance declines during periods of heat stress in three ways; estrus intensity lessens so heat detection becomes more difficult, fertility is reduced, and survival of early embryos is compromised. Encouraging water and feed intake can help maintain nutrient and energy balance, proper rumen pH levels and some nutritional components are shown to provide a cooling effect. Bovine BlueLite® is a nutritional solution that includes electrolytes, key vitamins and nutrients, such as betaine, that helps Cool Your Cows from The Inside Out. www.TechMixGlobal.com.
